

We appreciate your patience during this time of water outage and pressuring back up. Your water pressure will be low for a little while. It will / has taken some time to get the pressure back up due to filling the tower again. A boil water notice is issued until we can get water tested and an all clear later today or in the morning. We will post as soon as we get the results. Again, we appreciate your patience.